

Well, Spring has definitely sprung here in Academy! After rounding up hundreds of reading opportunities in March's Reading Roundup—and getting a jump on our first school-wide science fair project planning—our kiddos got to take a much-deserved Spring Break!

We are now back to creating the magic of learning with only EIGHT weeks of school left! To say there is a buzz in the air is an understatement. Our science projects are getting into full swing with students experimenting, hypothesizing, and making discoveries. Our school-wide science fair will be held between April 29-May 3. Your local learning center will be planning this fun event and finalizing its date SOON, so stay tuned!

Somewhere, something incredible is waiting to be known!

CENTER STAGE

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT-NOAH NEUMANN

Noah is an online student who can often be found traveling across the world, logging into class from such disparate places as St. Louis, New York, Austria, India, Africa, you name it! Though it sometimes requires extra homework to make up for unavoidable in-transit days, Noah is able to get the support he needs that complements his family's adventurous lifestyle. Noah has been with LBA for 3 semesters and now, after feeling completely dejected at his previous school, Noah consistently tells his mother how much he loves Lindamood-Bell Academy! When he does make it into the Houston Center between travel adventures, his smile lights up the room!

SHINE ON STUDENTS

SHINE ON CAST

Since taking over lunch buddy duties, Erika has imbued a true sense of camaraderie, fun, and exploration for the Houston students. Her creativity has really inspired some dynamic interactions– and not just at lunch, but also when she is working with her students on curriculum. She also introduced “Motivational Mondays” to her students: They discuss what motivation is, words they could say that to encourage others, and words to say to motivate ourselves when we feel “stuck.” Furthermore, she frequently shares these magical experiences and ideas with fellow learning centers to boost the LBA spirit everywhere! Keep creating that magic, Erika! We love it!
